Little did I know, I'd be struggling just to walk in Your light Little did I know, worshipping you would be a fight Little did I know, following You would take my very life well that's a small price, for the little that I know

Little did I know, I could never learn to love without You Little did I know, without love I'd be frustrated in all the things I do Little did I know, accepting You would bring acceptance to the man You see, and the little that He knows
